

PROTECT YOUR GRANITE

Congratulations! You have chosen a beautiful granite countertop for your home. Protecting it is not difficult. It will need to be sealed. Here are your choices for sealing:

We use the sealers that have been around for years to seal your stone to protect it from stains. These sealers provide good protection, but wear out. You will need to reseal periodically (especially in high-use areas and especially if you use strong cleaners) to keep the stone protected. The initial application of sealer is sometimes included in the price of your countertop.

A DRY-TREAT Accredited Applicator professionally seals your stone and gives you a 15-year warranty against oil or water-based stains. Your DRY-TREAT Accredited Applicator uses a newly arrived Australian product, proven indoors and out in Australia's harsh climate. Your DRY-TREAT Accredited Applicator is certified by DRY-TREAT to offer this written warranty. While you will always find cleaning easiest when you wipe up spills quickly, this seal will prevent water-based and oil stains from soaking into the stone. Therefore, if soap and water don't remove surface marks, they can be removed using standard household cleaners such as bleach – without removing the seal.

- Make your stone easier to clean.
- Keep spills on the surface where they can be removed.
- Use any cleaner without removing the seal.
- Invisible – you won't even know it is there.
- Protect against oil stains and water-based stains.
